A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

This annual was prepared by you and your fellow students and was designed to record the year's happenings at Northwestern State College. It is my opinion that the Editor and her able assistants have done an excellent job of recording college life as it existed on the "Hill" during this mid-century year.

It is a fine thing to have a pictorial and word-record of your student days. In the years ahead you will turn the pages of this book with much pleasure and satisfaction as you recall familiar scenes and faces. Pleasant memories of happy days gone by will be a source of endless satisfaction. A friend is among our most valuable possessions. You have made many friends during the year and some of these friendships will become stronger with the passing years. In other cases, time will fade or weaken these friendship ties, but your POTPOURRI will tend to revive and enliven them as often as you turn its pages. The book will be a source of pleasure to you; and may I say—yes, express the hope—that your children and grandchildren perhaps, turning the pages of this book, will be influenced to cast their lot with Northwestern State College. To be associated with Northwestern State College is to learn to love the "Hill." In fact, there is something fascinating about the columns and old Caldwell Hall that grips the imagination. Perhaps this intangible something has been a potent factor in making Northwestern State College. Graduates and ex-students know that we have a great college and we are proud of it. Those who have passed through its halls of learning have done their bit. Its future rests on your shoulders, in a large measure. We fondly hope that you will not only hold fast the high standards and splendid record already achieved, but that you will aspire to make Northwestern State College even greater.

In closing may I say that my year as Acting President has been filled with strenuous work and grave responsibilities; nevertheless, it has been a pleasant year. The friendly young men and young women students; the cooperative faculty; have helped to make my burden lighter. May we pool our efforts and work as a united band of scholars, to carry forth the torch of learning from the "Hill." May we dare to dream bigger dreams; may we dare to venture forth into uncharted areas; may we carry on the glorious motto that NORTHWESTERN IS THE MOTHER OF LEARNING IN LOUISIANA.

With the Federation of Louisiana Colleges and Universities no more a dream, but now a reality the Student Council of Northwestern State College displayed their active interest by inviting the colleges of Louisiana to this campus for their convention.

Awards were presented by this group to the deserving students of the college; elections were capably handled upholding the tradition of dignity and harmony of the college.

Other varied activities of the council were executed in a manner befitting the trust put in this group by their fellow students.

Operating as a constitutional body for the first time since its organization, the Student Senate, under the leadership of Archie Singletary, continued its policy of representative government.

During a topsy-turvy year, the group improved student recreational facilities by such means as sponsoring informal dances in the Student Center. It introduced several amendments to the Student Constitution, subject to approval by the Student body.

The Senate also worked with the Student Council to carry out the new form of government outlined last year. The sixteen upperclassmen and five freshmen rounded out a progressive year by proving the power of the legislative body in working towards the student interests.

Chief Justice

The purpose of the Honor Court is to pursue the building of higher standards of citizenship among men students at Northwestern State. The court serves as an impartial body working to equitably administer justice.

Selected on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership, and interest in student welfare, the students serving as justices are chosen by the court from an eligible list of appointees presented by the mens' dormitory councils.

This year James Poole served as Chief Justice. He was selected by his fellow justices to take the helm.

ASSOCIATED WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The Associated Women Students is an organization of all women students registered at the college. The purpose of the AWS is to promote the intellectual, social, and spiritual welfare of the women students.

Annually this organization sponsors a "Christmas at Home" in Varnado Hall. The big event of the year is the spring 'convocation, where awards are given to the outstanding women students on the campus, to the sorority having the highest scholastic average, and to the dormitory having the highest scholastic average. The Purple Jackets also present an award to the outstanding sophomore girl at this time.

Service to their college being the primary thought of this group of twenty-one girls, they will be seen around the campus on special occasions with a cheery smile to top their colorful purple and white outfit. In their capacity as official hostesses of the college the girls are called on to usher at all Artist Series programs, to show new students and visitors the interesting spots on our campus, to help on registration days, and to do just about anything which may be of service. Needless to say the girls do so willingly and tirelessly.

New members are called into the club, which holds the distinction of being the oldest honor organization on the campus, at a very impressive assembly during the spring semester. The girls are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and loyalty to the Alma Mater.

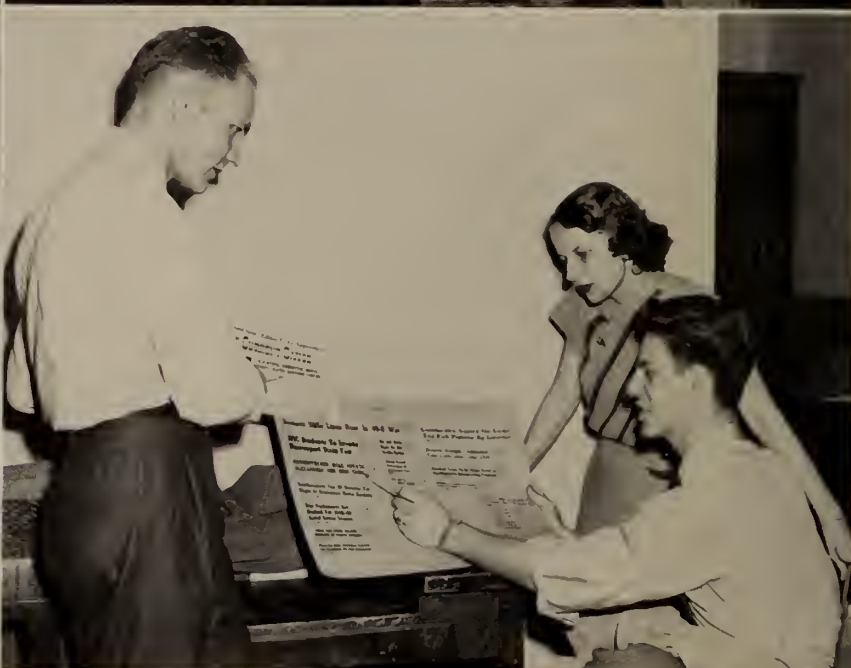

Without a doubt they have become an integral factor in the making of a bigger and better Northwestern.

Into the 1949-50 volume of the CURRENT SAUCE are combined the efforts of varied editors, staffs, and business managers, with Singletary holding the reins the first semester and Murphy the second. "Change" was certainly the motto of the year, as almost nothing the paper began with finished the year—from faculty advisors to the lowest staff member.

However, the new eight-page "rag" was still read eagerly on Saturday morning, innumerable special editions from Homecoming(s) to April Fool's Day—made the reader wonder just what was coming next. The usual troubles ran rampant—not enough ads, insufficient copy, no reporters, etc.—but, in spite of the troubles, the year's publication was gratifying.

Archie Singletary signed his name as Editor until approximately mid-semester, when he resigned and Bob Murphy was chosen to fill the vacancy. Murphy, in turn, relinquished his position as business manager to Don Morgan.

The staff members were too numerous and varied to be named; included, however, in the line-up were J. C. "Chuck" Tillman, Mai Levee, Louis Farmer, Jerry West, Louise Harris, Clayton "Bo" Taylor, Dot Taylor, Pat Leone, Jan-an LeBlanc, Essie Gabbert, Jean Weeks, Wesley Jackson, and Joe Sterkx.

Highlighting the year were pertinent editorials and the Letter-to-the-Editor column, which dealt with diversified subjects from St. Patrick's Day to administrative problems.

Thus, for the most part, the SAUCE has merely completed one more extremely successful year in the life of a college weekly.

Sixteen people suddenly found themselves confronted with the publication of a yearbook in October. Most of the planning had already been completed; the dummy was there, class pictures had been snapped, and a tentative schedule had been drawn up—all by the original staff.

But changes by the dozens were necessary—a new theme, new artwork, a new beauty section—and all had to be completed by spring. And the staff had to learn what it was all about before much could be done.

Somehow or other, however, the dummy was finished, the Potpourri Ball was staged, the beauties were selected, and work began.

Then the crash came—no photographer, a new office, numerous drop-outs on the staff, debate trips on the Editor's part; conflicts for the few remaining staff members.

Deadlines came and went. Anxiety was characteristic of all who entered the office. Finally, all photographic copy was in—and then, the glorious day when the manuscript copy was finished!

Thus, the 1950 POTPOURRI was completed. Jan-an LeBlanc, otherwise known as "Chief," managed to create and coordinate the confusion simultaneously. Eugene Pender and Firal Lee Ryder balanced the books; Louise Harris was "jack-of-all-trades"—the assistant editor; Pat Leone did everything from taking care of the organizations to dub as editor when necessary.

Carol Clark was the artist. Bob Murphy handled athletics; Joe Choate the features, Wyatt Westbrook, Edgar Stevens, Ed Adrian, —and last, but not least, "Curtis" produced the pix. Others who contributed were Laura Mahan, Raymond Flores, Don Jones, Dave Lawson, and Eunice Eden.

And now—all that can be said is—The book is here!

SPEECH

The 1949-50 school year saw the speech department extend its program farther into the fields of drama and radio, led by Mr. Donald A. Carr, new member of the department.

Two major productions were the brightest spots of the year. LIFE WITH FATHER was presented in the fall, while a musical comedy, COLLEGE WIDOW, was given in the spring. The latter was staged in cooperation with the music department. A variety of student-directed one-acts were also a part of the year's activities.

This year for the first time a series of radio dramas were broadcast from the college workshop. Under the

The department also sponsored a high school

Northwestern's Days

And they didn't believe a word of it!

Under the direction of Miss Julianne Martin, new forensic coach, the NSC varsity squad continued on its trail of glory during the 1949-50 year, copping three debate championships and numerous places in individual events.

Jan-an LeBlanc and Julia McBroom, Senior Women's division, added two trophies to the squad collection. The team won first at the Louisiana College meet, the Abilene Christian tourney, and the annual Northwestern tournament held here in March. McBroom opened the year by taking a superior rating at the University of Alabama discussion tournament.

Climaxing the year's events was the trip to Washington, D. C., for the second annual Georgetown University Invitational Tournament. Northwestern's delegation, composed of LeBlanc and McBroom and Jimmy Johnson and Luke Petrovich, competed with universities and colleges from throughout the United States, and made an excellent showing.

During the year, the team members also worked with Miss Martin in staging three forensic meets, both high school and college. The season was very successful, both from the standpoint of debate and individual events.

Other members of the squad were: Laddie Alexander, Ray Erwin, Basil Kolb, Nettie Jo Baker, Jo Pennington, Cecil Nielson, Marion La Shirah, Billy McCornick, Betty Gibson, and Marjorie White.

DEMONAIRES

Under the direction of drum-beater Gene Flores, the Demonaires continued to furnish the rhythm for all-college dances, private parties, and other activities.

Sporting new matching uniforms, the group, enlarged to a record size, advanced and progressed throughout the year. Something new was added when the department-sponsored dances furnished money for new music to provide varied tunes for college hops. Sonny Fisher did the vocals, aided by others at special times.

NORTHWESTERN'S BAND

State Fair showoff

Besides offering good musical enjoyment to spectators at football games, the band, under their able director, Dwight Davis, added colorhas represented the college at the annual State Fair and CENLA festivities. Their performance in parades and halftime ceremonies of football games in conjunction with the Demonettes proved complimentary to the college and Music Department.

On the campus the band has provided musical assemblies, presented concerts and definitely proved that N.S.C. has a well rounded musical program.

C H O I R

DONALD GLATTLY
Director

Only under the capable direction of Donald G. Glattly could over one hundred voices blend so perfectly. This group of vocalists is considered one of the best trained and noted musical groups in Louisiana. Much of Mr. Glattly's success is due to his wonderful personality which enables him to achieve the best work from his singers.

Highlighting the Christmas season was the presentation of Handel's beautiful "Messiah." This annual program has become a must to students, townspeople, and out of town visitors.

A smaller group of more experienced choristers make up what is known as the College Singers. These more select few travel through the State presenting a delightful musical program. Because of their excellence they have become well known throughout the state.

These two groups should be highly commended for giving so tirelessly and unselfishly of their time for the enjoyment of music lovers.

T H E S Y M P H O N Y

In its second year under the excellent direction of Vai Hill, the Northwestern State Symphony Orchestra has made strides in becoming a veteran and polished group of musicians, whose performances continue to win more praise and acclaim.

Highlighting the activities of the fall was the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" by both the Chorus and the Symphony. During the year the group also distinguished itself by its numerous concerts and programs before the student body and the general public.

With a total of forty members the orchestra consists of students in the music department as well as a number of non-music majors and Natchitoches musicians. The organization itself is barely three years old, but its progress under Mr. Hill marks it as a highly creditable group.

Mr. Hill, an accomplished violinist, is a graduate of the American Conservatory and Nebraska University. Along with his wife, he has presented many programs in Natchitoches and other cities throughout the state.

Miss Jan-an le Blanc, Editor
The Potpourri
Northwestern State College
Natchitoches, Louisiana

Dear Miss Le Blanc:

Attached are the photographs of your beauty queens.

A committee of Magazine staff members has studied them and has asked me to tell you that they wish to rate the following as the top six in their judgment. I am listing them in the order of selection.

First place - #4, Marian Cofer
Second place - #2, Jane Allen
Third place - #5, Jo Ann Gooch
Fourth place - #3, Jo Ann Brantley
Fifth place - #6, Evelyn Hollis Hall
Sixth place - #11, Hope Richard

The committee of judges attempted to rate the top five in order of their selection plus one alternate.

I have attached also a photograph of the staff members who judged the pictures. They are Ray Samuel, Assistant Magazine Editor; Gus Levy, Magazine Art Director; Peggy Mengis, Magazine feature writer-photographer.

I trust that this will serve your purpose. I cannot close this letter without saying that you certainly have a lovely group of girls pictured here.

Sincerely yours,

Warren C. Ogden
Magazine Editor

THE BEAUTIES

FIVE MEN'S ORGANIZATIONS on the campus nominated fifty-eight coeds as beauty contestants, out of which sixteen were judged as the leading beauties and favorites for 1950.

A REPRESENTATIVE GROUP of nine male students made the selections from the contestants' appearances on the stage.

PHOTOGRAPHS of the lovelies were then sent to the staff of The Times-Picayune, New Orleans States Color-gravure Magazine for ranking according to photogenic appeal. Three members of the magazine staff deliberated over the photographs to choose six girls as the leading beauties.

IN THE FOLLOWING PAGES are shown the 1950 POTPOURRI beauties and favorites.

Numerous Christmas trees, balloons, and crepe paper provided the setting for the 7th Annual POTPOURRI Ball in December when Jo Johnson was presented as Miss POTPOURRI of 1950. Selected by the yearbook staff, Miss POTPOURRI and her court of eight maids reigned over the Christmas dance as the crowd danced to the music of the Demonaires. Members of the court were: Jaconette Davis, Marilyn Finley, Alida Bishop, Emily Willis, Dorothy Tullos, Mai Levee, Retta Strickland, and Helen Melder.

These forty smartly-clad lassies, under the direction of Mr. Ellis Shields, provide a certain amount of sauciness to half-time shows with their performances at all home football games plus the Louisiana College game at Alexandria and the Tech game in Shreveport. Their intricate and eye-catching movements lend a great deal of color and prestige to Northwestern State.

While only three years old, the Demonettes are already recognized as one of the smartest marching squads in the state, and are fast gaining in popularity.

When the cleats were hung up—five wins and four losses. One was another stinging defeat by arch-rival Tech. But the Demons won over Louisiana College in the first annual Central Louisiana Fair Football game—and Buddy Lancaster, leading ground gainer in the powerful Gulf States Conference, had been named to the Little All American squad by an Associated Press poll, to the first-string line-up of the Gulf States Conference team.

Starting off the season with a "limited" backfield, the Demons rode the Oklahoma Broncos to a close 7-6 finish. A pass, Lancaster to Coyle, in the first quarter constituted the only NSC tally. Bobby Davis booted over the first extra pointer of the season. Oklahoma scored late in the fourth quarter but failed to make the extra point.

Registering their most outstanding performance of the '49 season, the game in which the Demon eleven displayed the finest teamwork and most aggressive spirit, Northwestern gave scrappy Louisiana Tech their worst scare of their championship year before bowing on an aerial interception in the last thirty seconds of play. Had it not been for a heartbreaking interception in the last minute of the contest, the Demons would have succeeded in eliminating an eight-year jinx held by the Bulldogs over Demon squads.

Highlighting the game was the incomparable passing of Johnny Emmons behind the near-perfect protection of a spirited line.

Our Third victory was over the Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks. The Demons took an early lead, maintained it through the fine shooting of Stoutamire and Johnny McConathy.

SECOND PLACE

The Demon's fourth win was easily won over the Barksdale Skyraiders for the second time by a score of 87-57. Ranew and Williams led the scoring with 13 points each.

The Demons journeyed to Austin College at Sherman, Texas, to take on one of the stronger small college teams of Northeast Texas and defeated them 67-41. Winning with comparative ease, the Demons spurred to a 29-23 halftime score and were never headed as they put on a spectacular second half show and walked away from the Texans. Stoutamire led the way with 25 points followed up by Hershel McConathy with 14. This marked the Demons' fifth straight win.

Taking on the first conference team, the Demon cagers trimmed the Springhill quintet 64-46. The Badgers put up a game fight against the quick-breaking Demon squad only to be outfought all the way.

Putting on a spectacular display of shooting ability, the Demon cagers took their seventh straight win from Arkansas Tech. Boasting one of tallest quintets in the nation, Arkansas Tech was highly favored before game time and adding to the odds were the absence of Demon stalwarts Stoutamire, Ranew and Yergler. Final score, 57-51.

Going on the road to the Enid tournament, the Demons tripped Centenary, 69-66, Northwest Oklahoma, 58-49, and lost to the University of Tulsa, 45-40.

The Demon cagers let it be known that they would be the team to beat in the Gulf States conference when they trounced Southwestern Louisiana's quintet 57-32. At the beginning minutes of the game, Southwestern pulled out strong but the sharp eyes of Johnny McConathy and Linwood Outz faded the hopes of the Bulldogs. Outz led the scoring with 19 points with McConathy just behind with 16. This boosted the Demon's record to 10 wins in 11 starts.

Northwestern's eleventh win was undoubtedly the hardest fought tussle ever witnessed against Louisiana College. Jumping to an early lead, the Wildcats held on until the last ten minutes of the contest which was somewhat marred by rough play on the part of both teams. Johnny McConathy led high scoring honors by bucketting 15 points and followed up by Stoutamire with 14. This win gave the Demons three conference wins in a row, and surely headed for the top spot in the conference.

The Demon's fourth and fifth straight conference wins were easily won over the Loyola Wolfpack 65-61 and 61-41. Stoutamire paced high scoring with 23 and 20 points, with Outz in second position with 15 in the first and Hershel McConathy with 19 in the second.

Having one victory on the road, the Demon quintet took its second by defeating the Southeastern squad. The Lions made a game out of it in the first ten minutes of play, as the two teams battled on even terms, but the sharp-shooting of Hershel McConathy and Outz gave the Demons a 31-21 halftime edge. In the second half, Stoutamire and Outz teamed up to drop in 26 points between them, as the Northwesterners ran away with the game. Stoutamire was high point man with 22, followed by Outz with 18.

In a fast breaking game, the Demons tripped the Spring Hill College squad for the second time by a score of 71-64. High scoring honors went to Stoutamire who hooked 18 points with Johnny McConathy right behind with 15.

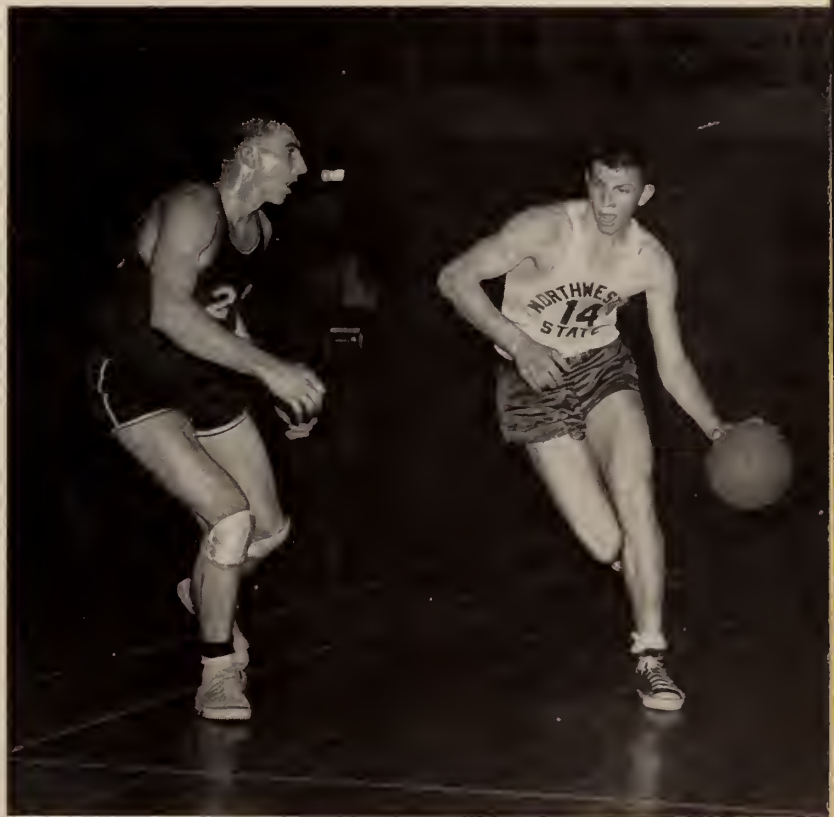

"Jodie" fakes 'em

Northwestern's first conference defeat came when the Mississippi Southern Southerners tipped the ever fighting Demon squad after a hard fought battle that finally ended up with a score of 47-40.

Tripping Louisiana Tech 43-40, the Demon squad boosted their conference lead to eight victories while only losing one. Little All-America "Jodie" Stoutamire took high scoring honors by copping 16 points.

The big slump of the season was now underway when the Demons dropped their second tilt to Mississippi Southern. Early in the game "Big" Jim Willis left the court when he received a deep cut over the eye. Stoutamire took scoring honors with 21 points and Mississippi Southern's Gallagher in the runner-up position. Our second straight loss was to Centenary College after a hard fought battle with a score of 62-54. Centenary's Gentlemen played inspired ball in the second half breaking the Demon's 32-30 lead at half-time. Although heavily guarded, Stoutamire managed to score 20 points taking high scoring honors.

And Jodie Scores

Going for three road games, the Demons took their third, fourth and fifth loss, losing to Southwestern, 61-57, Southeastern, 49-44, and Louisiana Tech, 60-55. In the last three contests, the cagers of NSC beat La. College, 74-58, lost to Southeastern, 53-58, and won over the Centenary Gents, 60-55. Northwestern State College's 1949-50 basketball squad amassed a total of 1588 points in 26 games compared to 1452 for all opponents. The tie for second place in the conference was through a 10-6 record.

Heading the list of Demon scorers was Claude "Jodie" Stoutamire with 428 points on 173 field goals and 82 free throws. Stoutamire ends a brilliant cage career at Northwestern and his replacement will be the chief worry of the Purple and White mentor next season. He played in only 23 of the 26 games.

Other players sharing in the Northwestern scoring parade include Johnny McConathy, 290 points; Linwood Outz, 223; Hershel McConathy, 205; Artie Ranew, 133; Buddy Bates, 107; Jim Willis, 75; and Jim Yergler, 63. Although not taking too active a part in the battles this season Randall Williams, Walter and Charles Powell, Dan Poole, DeWitt Paten and Eddie Moore gave out with their all for the Purple and White.

Strengthened by returning lettermen Jack Branch and Micky Gunn, captain for the 1950 squad, the Demon Tankers lost two contests by one point, ended the season with a 5 win, 4 loss record.

Such teams as the Dallas Athletic Club, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M, Vanderbilt, Baylor, and various Navy teams have learned to respect the Northwestern Pool performers.

Boosted by Arkansas athletes, Coach Piscopo has indeed one of the strongest aggregations in the South. Among his stellar performers are Sonny Hoff, who ranked fifth in the nation in diving from the

ADVERTISEMENTS

IN APPRECIATION

The 1950 POTPOURRI is at last completed. Into it has gone the work of not only the students whose names appear on the staff, but also the "blood, sweat, and tears" of hundreds of people without whom the book would never have been completed. We therefore would like to say "thanks" to all who have had a part in this, another representation of student life at Northwestern. And, especially to the following, do we express our sincere appreciation:

The Shreveport Engraving Company . . . to Mr. P. E. Dozier, Mr. Bob Smith, and Mr. Ed Birchett . . . for their unlimited understanding, patience, and co-operation when everything looked black . . .

The Benson Printing Company . . . which, through the efforts of Mr. W. A. Benson, Jr., added the final touch always . . .

The numerous advertisers who responded generously, and whose firms or products you see represented on the following pages . . .

Mr. Curtis Guillet, who took the majority of the photographs for the book, for always being willing, at any time, to lend a helping hand . . .

Dr. G. W. McGinty and the other administrative officers, who gave us much-needed guidance on numerous matters . . .

Mr. Steve Harmon, our faculty advisor, who knew and recognized our problems and helped us to cope with them . . .

And then to you, the student body, for your constant support and generous co-operation in many ways . . .

Again, to all, we say "thanks" . . .
